Membership Categories

ACTIVE/PROFESSIONAL: Individuals occupationally or professionally involved in the practice of Infection Prevention and Control and/or Epidemiology. May vote, hold office and serve on committees. This category also includes Industry/Business members who are directly responsible for products and services related to Infection Prevention and Control. Annual Fee: $206 (at time of printing)

INSTITUTIONAL: Employees of health care related institutions or agencies interested in fostering the purposes and objectives of the Association. Members must be at the same physical site. Representatives receive the same benefits as Active members. Membership will stay with the person for the remainder of the membership year unless they otherwise agree to transfer membership to another representative of the Institution.

Annual Fee: $288 for the first representative; $124 for each representative thereafter (at time of printing). The member is the individual, not the institution.

STUDENT: Full-time student attending a full time infection control related program. May not vote or hold elected office. May serve on committees. Applications for Student membership must be accompanied by a letter of attestation that the applicant is a full-time student attending an infection prevention and control related program. Annual Fee: $124 (at time of printing)

RETIRED: Retired and not employed full time or seeking full time employment in Infection Prevention and Control. This is a non-voting membership. May not vote or hold elected office. May serve on committees. Annual Fee: $124 (at time of printing)

An Introduction to IPAC Canada

Founded in 1976 as CHICA-Canada, IPAC Canada is a multidisciplinary organization for health providers including Paramedics, Police and Fire and others involved in the prevention and control of infections.

IPAC Canada provides representation, communication and education for those involved in infection prevention and control activities. Membership within our organization gives Infection Prevention and Control Professionals and other healthcare professionals networking support and communication opportunities at provincial, national and international levels.

Over 1,600 members strong, IPAC Canada's mandate includes Infection Prevention and Control in acute care, long term care, community and public health settings, as well as the community at large.

IPAC Canada provides expert information to outside agencies, at all levels. There are many opportunities to learn and share valuable information: conference education, distance education, and webinars; special interest groups and external committees; IPAC Chat, and Members Area of the website; employment postings; and 21 chapters across Canada offering regular meetings, education and discussion of timely topics.

Whether you are a novice and just beginning your career, or are an experienced professional, you will gain invaluable information from our annual National Education Conference, from the quarterly Canadian Journal of Infection Control, from our web site (www.ipac-canada.org) and from your peers.

Membership Benefits

- ❖ Members receive the quarterly Canadian Journal of Infection Control which includes news of IPAC Canada activities, practice information, and articles on professional issues.
- ❖ Web site access – Members Area. Download interactive tools, browse employment listings, download education and promotion brochures and posters, and have on-line access to the current issue of the journal (archived copies available for public access).
- ❖ Receive timely broadcast emails on the most current issues, updates and publications.

- ❖ Participate in surveys – help ensure the most recent, pertinent data is provided to relevant committees, outside agencies, public health professionals, and the community at large
- ❖ Maintain a strong liaison with public health, allied professionals and pre-hospital care providers
- ❖ Education opportunities, both in-person and on-line
- ❖ A unified voice in the promotion of the profession and in response to major issues

Join Our Prehospital Care Interest Group

The Prehospital Care Interest Group consists of professionals who work in prehospital care agencies, hospitals, health units and other agencies supporting prehospital care. The interest group provides a network for sharing of resources, information, ideas and solutions to address the unique infection prevention and control issues encountered in prehospital care.
